Housing is a Human Right and Not a Commodity

Housing is the foundation for a good life and the basis for social cohesion in Europe. EU laws currently restrict the development of subsidized housing.

Housing is Too Expensive

Housing costs are rising faster than incomes. There is less and less money left over to live on. More and more people are forced to move out of the cities because they can no longer afford the housing prices there and have hence to commute long distances.

Not Enough Affordable Housing

Since the economic crisis, investments in affordable and social housing have been halved. Through speculation, high profits are achieved when selling off entire city neighbourhoods. Large segments of the population cannot be provided with affordable housing.

Fight Now for Affordable and Social Housing in Europe

We urge the EU to take action to facilitate access to housing for everyone in Europe. This includes easier access for all to social and affordable housing, not applying the Maastricht criteria to public investment in social and affordable housing, better access to EU funding for non-profit and sustainable housing developers, social, competition-based rules for short-term rentals and the compilation of statistics on housing needs in Europe.

We Need Your Voice!

With 1 million signatures, we oblige the EU Commission to take action.
